Cara Ellison shared; “I have set some aggressive goals over the next 30 days to get myself up to speed on the CT100 Club and reach out to all the departments across Johnson and Somervell counties, as well as to spread the message of the CT100 with our community. The Chisholm Trail 100 Club was started in 2009 when citizens of Johnson County, Texas joined together to create a non-profit organization to support the first responders of our area. The idea has spread like wildfire through both the business and private communities. The CT100 Club currently serves over 1,300 first responders in Johnson and Somervell counties as well as the City of Mansfield.

When tragedy strikes, the effects are both swift and devastating. The 100 Club recognizes the need to respond immediately with personal support and understanding. Whatever the need - be it financial, advisory, or moral support, the 100 Club is there to ease the pain of the family of a Law Enforcement Officer, Fire Fighter or EMS Responder injured or killed in the line of duty.
